Dear Lemony Snicket,

I really admire your books. I am only on the sixth book and I am already hooked. I think the first one was the best. The way the Baudelair's take chances makes me want to take chances. This series has turned my world upside down.

The changes these books have made on me are amazing. These books have made me really respect what I have, and I think it's awesome that I don't have a mad man in disguise chasing after me everywhere I go. Boy it's really nice that I still have a family and a home. Speaking of family I think you and Beatrice would have made a great couple. The Quagmire triplet's are a great addition to the series. I have personally never read a series that holds so much suspense, the books just keep you reading!

I just wanted you to know that I really enjoy reading your books and I think your should consider writing another series. I want you to know I admire your books and I am sure that many generations after me will enjoy reading your books too. Keep up the good work. From a really faithful reader.

Sincerely,

Harrison Rogers
