Dear J. K. Rowling,

Your book Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone has changed my life completely. Your book has made me want to be very brave, and has also taught me the value of friendship.

Before I read your book I wasn't sure if I wanted to be brave. Now I know. Also before I read your book I wanted to be alone. Now I know friends are something everyone should have. I also see how valuable they are.

It's sometimes hard to find someone to relate to, and that's what your book gave me. Now that I've got someone to relate to things are better for me. That's how your book has changed me.

Sincerely,

Mathew Davis
