Dear Gary Paulson,

Wow. That's all I can say about Brains Hunt. After reading your book, I have an all new perspective on life. You gave Brian a great strength. If I was given a great strength I would help the people around the world. I would help with people who do not get as much food or water, as we do in the United States. But I did not know where to find my strength, but after reading your book, I found my strength.

While reading Brains Hunt, I wondered. Will I be able to slaughter all evil that comes my way? Will I be able to track the steps of villains? Will I be able to conquer all conditions that blow, fall, or run cross my face? I know I can after reading your book.

No matter what age you are, we all need strengths in something. No matter what it is. You can get a strength after reading this book. After reading this book, my strength I got was to appreciate what I have. Some people in the world do not have much of anything. Next to that, some people in the world are going through a war. Like the people in Iraq.

I think if you read this book you will have more fun in life. You will learn to appreciate life more with your family or with friends. You might want to read this book. Now that I have read this book, I will think more about life and what to do with my life. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Brandon Kerian
